TROOPS LEAVE CHICAGO

Their Withdrawal Ordered by the War Department.

BREAK IN THE PULLMAN STRIKE.

The Men Set to Work on Tracks at the Pullman Works—The War of the Torch and Bomb Still Continues—Condition of Affairs in California.

CHICAGO, July 19.—At 8 o'clock last night General Miles appended his signature to the general order removing federal troops from Chicago. The infantry took trains for their respective posts, while the cavalry and artillery will march to Fort Sheridan and remain there until such time as General Miles thinks it best that they be sent to their posts. The order for breaking camp came from the war department last evening, after General Miles had informed the department that he thought the situation had so far improved that it was perfectly safe to withdraw them from the city.

The first break in the ranks of the Pullman strike occurred when 150 Hollanders were put to work on the tracks back of the Pullman foundry. The men quit work when the strike was declared and stayed out until now.

Albert Miles was shot and probably fatally wounded at Fiftieth and Halsted streets by Oscar E. Vardman. Both men before the strike were employed as engineers by the Switching association at the stock yards. When the strike was declared both went out. Vardman, however, returned to work last Monday. Miles still remaining out. As Vardman was returning home from work he was met by Miles and three other men. A quarrel ensued. Miles endeavoring to pursuade Vardman to leave his work again. Vardman refused to do this and he was assaulted by Miles and his companions. To defend himself he drew a revolver. At the sight of this Miles and his companions turned and ran, but as they did so Vardman fired one shot. The bullet struck Miles in the small of the back and he fell to the ground, while the others escaped. Miles was taken to the company hospital, where the physicians said he would die. Vardman went to the stock yards police station, where he gave himself up.

Four strikers threw a switch in front of a Wisconsin Central passenger train and derailed the engine, baggage car and two coaches. The train was moving slowly and nobody was injured. One of the men was arrested.

AFFAIRS IN CALIFORNIA.

A Scarcity of Competent Trainmen Causes but Few Trains to Move.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—The strikers' view of the railroad situation in northern California was given today by one of the strike leaders in Oakland. "Under ordinary circumstances," he said, "eighteen or twenty freight trains are dispatched from Oakland daily. During the last few days the railroad company has sent out five freight trains. If this is running the road then we are beaten."

It is apparently a scarcity of competent trainmen that is troubling the officials of the railroads. In Sacramento almost the same condition prevails. One hundred and fifty workmen were induced to go back to the railroad shops there yesterday. In Oakland forty men were escorted to and from the railroad shops by a troop of cavalry. The strikers made no attempt to interfere.

Evidence was offered today, however, that the railroad company has still to guard against violence. A trackwalker discovered that the fish plates had been removed from over the bridge and yards of track. It is a scheme of violence as feared at Truckee, where the strikers are in an ugly mood.

The preliminary examination of Knox and Worden, the strikers who were accused of murder, in having wrecked a train and caused the death of a fireman a week ago, began at Woodland yesterday. This affords the strikers another opportunity to cripple the Southern Pacific railroad. The witnesses for the strikers' side as well as the two switchmen who were recently arrested on the Sacramento river, have come to court compelled the company to abandon several trains out of Sacramento.

Militia Also Ordered Home

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., July 19.—Adjutant General Orendorff issued an order directing the entire Second brigade, Illinois state troops, and the First battalion of naval militia, on duty at Chicago, to proceed to their homes at once, using special trains. Colonel Smith, in command of the troops at Morands, Pulaski county, was also wired to send his three companies to their homes. This removes all the state troops from duty, excepting 3,000 in Chicago.

All Settled at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, July 19.—The strike of the American Railroad union is all over as far as St. Louis is concerned. Strike Director M. J. Elliott left for Chicago last night. Two-thirds of the strikers have applied for their old positions. An exceedingly small percentage have been successful.

Fired on by Strikers.

JACKSON, Miss., July 19.—Near Newton Conductor K. R. McElrod and a negro non-union brakeman, both being on top of a car, were fired on by strikers. McElrod was struck with sixty or seventy squirrel shot, and is in a dangerous condition. The negro was but slightly hurt.

Debs Still in Jail.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Messrs. Debs, Howard, Rodgers and Keliher were brought from the county jail yesterday afternoon to Commissioner Haynes' office for the purpose of consulting with their attorneys, who again insisted on their giving bail, but the prisoners declined.

Strikers Released on Bail.

OGDEN, Utah, July 19.—About fifty strikers indicted by the grand jury charged with interference with the United States mail were before Judge Riner and pleaded not guilty to the charge. They were released on bonds ranging from $300 to $1,000.

Complete Tie Up in Montana.

BUTTE, Mont., July 19.—The tie up of the railroads at this point is complete. Utah and Northern trains come no further than Dillon. No Northern Pacific trains are moving to this city. Troops have not yet arrived.

Governor Hogg's Prediction.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 19.—Governor Hogg was presented with a gold watch by officers of the state militia, and in a speech in response he took a gloomy view of the future. He predicted that within six weeks martial law will be declared in California, Kansas, Colorado, Illinois, and said that the anarchists of Chicago would use dynamite and "bespatter the lofty buildings of the city with the hearts, lungs and livers of citizens."

Returning to Work.

TACOMA, Wash., July 19.—Three hundred and fifty-one new employes have been put to work on the Pacific division of the Northern Pacific since the strike began. Practically all the old engineers have returned to work. Many of the switchmen, conductors, freight clerks and some of the firemen who quit have applied for their positions, but not all could be taken back, as new men had been engaged.

Still Burning Bridges

NORTH ENID, O. T., July 19.—The war of the torch and the bomb along the line of the Rock Island road in the Cherokee strip continues, the burning of a bridge a mile north of Waukomis station being the latest outrage. The bridge was burned just after the passing of a passenger train going south, and was completely destroyed. Another company of United States troops arrived here last night.

Eight Months for Contempt.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 19.—Judge Ross found John Howarth and Engineer Martin Kelly guilty of contempt of court for violating his injunction at Barstow and sentenced each to eight months in jail. The severity of the sentence was a surprise to many.

BISHOP WATTERSON SUSTAINED

Mgr. Satolli Approves of the Former's Condemnation of the Liquor Traffic.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The Press today says: "Mgr. Satolli, the apostolic delegate, has just rendered a decision condemning the liquor traffic. He approves of the expulsion of liquor dealers from Catholic societies. This remarkable decision was called forth by an appeal from the ruling of Bishop Watterson, of Columbus, O.

"During the last lenten season Bishop Watterson addressed a letter to the clergy and laity of the diocese dealing wholly with the temperance problem. Bishop Watterson said: 'I hereby withdraw my approbation from any and every Catholic society in this diocese that has a liquor dealer or saloonkeeper at its head, or anywhere among its officers, and I suspend every such society itself from the rank and privileges as a Catholic society until it ceases to be so offered.'

One of the societies laid the matter formally before Mgr. Satolli. To this appeal the apostolic delegate has just responded. It sustains the position of Bishop Watterson, and says: 'The liquor traffic, and especially as conducted here in the United States, is the source of much evil, hence the bishop was acting within his rights in seeking to restrict it. Therefore, the delegate apostolic sustains Bishop Watterson's action and approves of his circular and regulation concerning saloons and the expulsion of saloon keepers from membership in Catholic societies.'

"Rev. Alexander P. Doyle, of the Paulist fathers, the general secretary of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, said that the declaration of the apostolic delegate is the most important ever promulgated by the church in this country, and he thought its effect would be far reaching."

Committed Suicide Through Fear.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The body of the young woman found floating in the East river has been identified as Jennie Bucker. She is supposed to have committed suicide through fear. She believed she had caused the death of her brother's wife. Jennie and her sister-in-law were upbraiding each other. Mrs. Bucker's temper was so violent she fell in a fit and remained unconscious for an hour. A neighbor said Jennie had killed Mrs. Bucker. The girl then ran from the house and was seen no more.

IN SENATE AND HOUSE.

A Number of Bills Are Passed by Both Branches.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The Indian appropriation bill was under discussion in the senate yesterday, but final action upon it was not taken. The only important appropriation tacked on to the bill in the senate was for $18,750 for the St. Joseph Indian school in Wisconsin. Bills were passed authorizing Rear Admiral John C. Walker Surgeon General J. Rufus Tryon and Commander C. H. Davis to accept medals or decorations from foreign countries.

The following additional bills were passed. To authorize the president to appoint delegates to the meeting of the International Geodetic association, to provide for the reservation, sale and settlement of certain lands, and to allow the Metropolitan Railway company, of Washington, to change its motive power from horses to pneumatic or underground power. The conference report on the naval appropriation bill was agreed to by the senate.

The house devoted yesterday to the consideration of bills reported from the committee on military affairs. Eight were passed as follows: To regulate enlistments in the army; to authorize the board of managers of the Soldiers' Home to transfer and maintain the inmates of any branch in case of emergency; to place Major General John L. Green on the retired list as a first lieutenant, Eugene Wells as a second lieutenant, N. J. Dana as assistant quartermaster, Dunbar K. Ransom as captain, Charles B. Stivers as captain and James William Albert as major.

For a New Commission.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Representative Phillips, of Pennsylvania, has introduced a bill for a non-partisan commission to collect information and consider and recommend legislation to meet the problems presented by labor, agriculture and capital. It provides for the appointment by the president of a commission of five representatives of labor, five of agriculture, and five of commerce, each division to choose two more members and to appoint a lawyer. A majority of the commission shall not belong to one political party, its members shall be salaried at $5,000 and its life shall not be longer than two years.

A Unique Banquet.

BRAZIL, Ind., July 19.—A most unique banquet was given here. More than 500 citizens from Knightsville and the neighborhood, where the recent stoning to death of the Vandalia engineer, Barr, occurred, came to bid farewell to the four young strikers who were recently connected with the murder of the engineer. They are about ready to be taken to the state's prison at Jeffersonville to serve out each a two years' sentence of imprisonment. The prisoners were brought out from their cells in jail into the sheriff's yard and seated at the first table with their fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters and other relatives.

A Burning Vessel Abandoned.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The American bark Emma T. Crowell, of Searsport, Me., Captain Pendleton, sailed yesterday for Shanghai, laden with case oil. All went well until one of the crew saw smoke issuing from the forward deck. On opening the fore hatch large volumes of smoke poured from below. The hatch was immediately battened down again, and orders given to lower away the boats and abandon the vessel, which was apparently doomed to destruction. All the bands, including the captain's wife, were rescued by a passing steamer.

Another Birmingham Riot Victim.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 19.—All is quiet in the mining districts today. It is now known that two more strikers were wounded in Monday's battle at the Pratt mines, one of whom has just died. Seventy-five rioters are in jail, and Judge Green and Governor Jones have been in conference all the morning in reference to holding a special term of the criminal court for the trial of the rioters.

Babe Mangled by a Horse.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 19.—Mrs. Trueman Miller, who lives two miles south of this city, while picking berries, left her little 18 months old babe lying under the shade of a tree. On returning she found a horse gnawing the little one, and its head was almost mangled to pieces. The poor mother is overcome with grief, and seems to be losing her mind.

Hawaii Now a Republic.

AUCKLAND, N. Z., July 19.—Advices received here by steamer from Honolulu show that a republic was proclaimed in the Hawaiian islands on July 4. Sanford B. Dole, the provisional president, is the first president of the new republic. When the steamer bringing the advices sailed many persons had taken the oath of allegiance.

Nothing Strange.

Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles results from impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

Slawson Brothers, Milk Dealers, 226 E. 46th St.

Drs. Jones and Potter, 1270 Broadway:

DEAR SIRS: You can imagine my great satisfaction in being so completely cured of my rupture after suffering with it for thirty-eight years. I have been examined by many eminent doctors and had their trusses adjusted, but grew worse every year. By chance I came into your care, and am now a sound man.

I feel truly grateful to you, and cheerfully recommend your treatment.

Dr. Potter of the above firm, is at the Russell House, Middletown, every Thursday.

NO TARIFF AGREEMENT

The Conferees So Report to Both Houses Today.

THE CHARACTER OF THE REPORT.

The Total Disagreement Was on the Schedules Covering Sugar, Metals, Iron Ore and Coal—Conjectures as to the Probable Course.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The proceedings of the full tariff conference yesterday were both brief and formal, consisting merely of a statement by Senator Voorhees to the effect that the Democratic members of the conference had found themselves after another effort unable to find common ground to stand upon, and had decided to recommend a report for a general disagreement upon the bill as a whole. There was no discussion. The house members indicated, though not by formal vote, that they should elect to stand by the house bill, while the senators, Democratic and Republican, voted not to recede from the senate amendments.

Mr. Wilson made a brief verbal report as soon as the house convened this morning. Mr. Catchings, from the committee on rules, thereupon presented a special rule allowing two hours for debate, at the end of which time a vote will be taken on again sending the bill to conference. It is expected that there will be objection to this rule. Mr. Reed says he advised a full debate, yet he has no objection to limiting it to two hours. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Reed will each control one hour. It is expected that Mr. Wilson will make the main statement of the difficulties which now confront the bill, although his strength may not permit him to make a long speech.

No purpose has been developed as yet to move special instructions to the committee, as it is said an insistence on the house bill is all the instructions necessary. When the bill is again sent to conference there will be no change in the personnel of the house committee.

It is learned that agreements were possible on most of the questions, and that the schedules of disagreement which brought about the total disagreement were those covering sugar, metals, iron ore and coal. The differences on manufactured metals resulted mainly from that on iron ore, so that the difference was in fact practically narrowed down to iron ore, coal and sugar.

The Knights Let Up on Olney.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—Secretary and Treasurer Hayes, of the Knights of Labor, left here for Omaha this morning, where there is to be a meeting of the executive board to discuss the strike situation of the western railroads. Hayes stated that the Knights of Labor have abandoned their purpose to attempt the impeachment of Attorney General Olney. They were led to this action, he said, by the movement of President Cleveland in deciding to appoint a committee to investigate the trouble.

Boat Capsized and Three Drowned.

PORT ANGELES, Wash., July 19.—In a drowning accident near here J. H. Johnson, August Nelson and John Dippold lost their lives. The three left in a fishing boat for Dungeless Spit, four miles east of the city. Their boat capsized in view of people on the beach, who heard their cries for help, but could render no aid.

ORDER OF UNITED FRIENDS.

New Officers Elected at the Biennial Session of the Grand Council of Penna.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 19.—The biennial session of the grand council of the Pennsylvania Order of United Friends began in this city with about one hundred delegates present, representing every section of the state. Dr. Charles G. Frowerth, of Philadelphia, made a reply to the address of welcome of Mayor Smeltz, extending the freedom of the city.

During the past two years the membership increased 1,500, and two new councils have been organized in Allegheny City. During the same period $101,000 death benefits were paid. Action was taken against the abolishment of the grand medical examiner, and the superior body was asked not to assess social members the per capita tax as increased from seventy-five to eighty cents a year. Philadelphia was chosen as the place of the next biennial session.

The following officers were elected: Grand councillor, Dr. A. R. Rainear; vice councillor, John Bercher, Pittsburg; grand recording secretary, Henry M. Way, Philadelphia; grand treasurer, F. M. Perkins, Philadelphia; medical examiner, William Pratt Reed, Philadelphia; prelate, J. A. C. Goebel, Philadelphia, marshal, J. W. Bassett, Greensburg, guardian, J. C. Floyd, Philadelphia; sentinel, J. F. Schultz, Mansfield Valley; trustees, E. W. Eckel, H. C. Vezey, Philadelphia; Louis Marks, Franklin; imperial representatives, W. H. Ivins, W. C. Crowell, Philadelphia; alternates, Charles G. Frowerth, H. N. Way, Philadelphia.

An evening session was held to consider amendments to the by-laws.

Non-Union Miners Overawed.

ALTOONA, Pa., July 19.—Ninety-seven men in charge of ten deputies arrived at Ben's Creek, Cambria county, yesterday, from Philadelphia. The men were engaged to take the place of striking miners in W. H. Piper & Co.'s mine at Ben's Creek. They were met at the railroad station by several hundred miners, including a number who had been at work in other mines, and induced them not to go to work. Women and children joined the mob and the deputies were threatened with violence. They sought refuge in a store and were not permitted to leave until they promised to quit the place, which they did.

Short in His Accounts

NEW YORK, July 19.—Frank Reilly, ex-treasurer of the United States Order of American Carpenters and Joiners, Assembly No. 1, appeared in answer to a summons in the Jefferson Market court yesterday. Samuel Cavanagh, the present treasurer, made the complaint. He said that Reilly was $436 46 short in his accounts. Reilly admitted the charge and offered $100 cash and a mortgage in settlement. The hearing was adjourned to Wednesday next.

Her Brains Scattered on the Ground.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 19.—Miss Addie Woodie, a telegraph operator at Lavalette, ten miles south on the Norfolk and Western railroad, was killed in a runaway yesterday. She and a lady friend were out driving when the animal ran away, throwing both ladies out of the vehicle. Miss Woodie's head was crushed and her brains scattered on the ground. The other lady had several bones broken, but will recover.

Funeral Over a "Live Corpse."

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 19.—Washington E. Irving, a nephew of the famous author, was supposed to have died at Escondido, and his funeral was held. With the close of the service, after friends had passed the casket, a knocking was heard from within and, the lid being hastily removed, Irving got up in a dazed condition, soon regained his senses fully and was taken home.

Damaged by a Bursting Fly Wheel.

WOODCLIFF, N. J., July 19.—A twenty foot fly wheel at the Manville company's works at Manville, burst and the flying pieces caused three other wheels to burst, besides demolishing four five foot driving wheels on the floor above. The building and contents were damaged $75,000, and 1,500 employes are thrown out of work.

Drank Sulphuric Acid.

BALTIMORE, July 19.—August Link, a musical instrument maker, committed suicide by drinking about an ounce of sulphuric acid. His throat and stomach were terribly burned, and he died in great agony while being conveyed in a cab from his home to the hospital.

THE COREAN IMBROGLIO

Alleged Intervention of the United States in the Controversy.

MR. CLEVELAND AS MEDIATOR.

Our President Said to Have Made Representations to China and Japan Looking to a Peaceable Settlement of Affairs. History of the Incident.

LONDON, July 19.—A dispatch from Berlin to The Chronicle says that the London correspondent of The Vossische Zeiting declares that both Russia and the United States have done their utmost to avert war between China and Japan over Corea. The United States, the correspondent adds, has even exceeded the limits of friendly persuasion over Japan and China. A dispatch from Washington to a news agency here states that President Cleveland has offered to mediate on the Corean question.

The history of the incident begins with the Corean rebellion, when, upon the application of the king, the United States sent the warship Baltimore to Chemulpo. Almost simultaneously the Japanese and Chinese governments sent military forces to aid the king in his efforts to stamp out the rebellion. They were successful, and when quiet was restored the Coreans proffered their thanks and suggested a withdrawal of the foreign forces. This was not so easily to be accomplished.

The Chinese and Japanese have always been at odds whenever Corea was concerned. However, the Chinese were willing to withdraw if the Japanese would do likewise, but the latter country discovered that she had a number of grievances against the Coreans on account of maladministration and making a series of demands, some of which touched the very existence of Corea as an independent nation, Japan announced that her troops would not be withdrawn until these conditions were met.

At this point the attention and interest of other nations were strongly aroused, for it was seen that the peace of all northern Asia was in jeopardy. Great Britain, Russia and France interposed with pacific remonstrances; but Japan, the present government of which, it is intimated here, was in such a desperate pass politically that it felt obliged to excite the national feeling as a means of self preservation. Then the United States was drawn into the matter.

We have large interests in China an Japan, and prospects of greatly enlarging our trade relations, and when United States Minister Dunn, at Tokio, represented the conditions to the state department it was felt to be not only in our own interest, but for the good of all concerned to reinforce the efforts of the great European powers to prevent a conflict that would surely be disastrous to both sides.

Just how far Secretary Gresham went in his representations to Japan can be learned only when the correspondence is published, but it may be safely assumed that our government has done nothing that would be likely to affront a nation that is not unduly sensitive; nor has it varied from the course of diplomatic usage in the form of its representations. The general policy of the United States in this matter has been in accord with that of Russia and Great Britain.

McKillip Pleads Guilty.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 19.—Daniel McKillip, one of the coal miners arrested at Fontenal last Thursday on the charge of violating the federal court restraining order by interfering with movements of trains on the Big Four, pleaded guilty before Judge Baker in the United States court yesterday. McKillip's plea was a surprise. Thomas Harper, President Debs' attorney, failed to appear for McKillip, as had been expected. The federal officers here believe that McKillip knows more about the Fontenal wreck than he has yet told.

Two Sailors Arrested for Robbery.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., July 19.—Two sailors belonging to the schooner Achilles were arrested here by a deputy United States marshal from Alaska, charged with robbing Captain Bartles of $800 while the latter was in jail at Sitka for attempting to break into the government prison to release a Russian woman. Captain Bartles sent the men on board the schooner to Sitka to get the money to be deposited as bail. They secured the money, stole a boat and escaped. A portion of the money was recovered.

Baseballist Tucker Again Set Upon.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—After returning from yesterday's game, "Tommy" Tucker, the first baseman of the Boston team, was assaulted in front of the Hotel Hanover by a crowd of enthusiasts who were returning from yesterday's game. He received a heavy blow in the mouth. Tucker complained to a policeman, but was ordered into his hotel, and, upon refusing, was locked up in a nearby station house. Later he was released and left town with the club for New Bedford, where they play today.

The Doctors Endorse It.

At a regular meeting of the Genesee County (N. Y.) Medical Society, the physicians of the county passed a vote of thanks for samples of Gilmore's Aromatic Wine, which had been presented to the society, and said that they recognized the remedy as being adapted to a large class of summer diseases. Physicians everywhere recommend this excellent medicine, especially to their lady patients. Sold by all druggists for $1.00 per bottle.

Ladies Who Bloat.

What a great number there are, how uncomfortable it makes them; it is almost impossible for those afflicted to enjoy life. In my private practice I have always found Sulphur Bitters to be the best remedy. All who are thus troubled should use it. MRS. DR. CHILDS, Boston.

MY SHIP.

Ahoy, my mariners just ashore!
Say, have you seen in whatever sea
A vessel loaded with golden store,
With diamonds and laces and wealth galore,
Bound for its home and me?

For she started many a year ago
From a far off port where the fairies be,
And it's oh, that the winds may kindly blow,
And it's oh, that the tides may softly flow,
And hasten her home to me!

There's a sweet young girl given me her hand,
Who some day my little wife will be,
And every day on the wave kissed strand
Together with eyes a-sea we stand,
Scanning the sun kissed sea.

We're going to wed when my ship comes home,
Home to its port and home to me.
I know in my soul it is sure to come.
Wherever abroad it may chance to roam,
In whatever bay or sea.

Ribbons and laces my love shall wear,
And flashing jewels and satin she,
With diadems decking her golden hair.
Ah, never a queen will be half so fair
When my ship comes over the sea!

So, ho, my mariners just ashore!
Say, have you seen in whatever sea
A vessel loaded with golden store,
With diamonds and laces and wealth galore,
Bound for its port and me?

—Boston Traveller.

A PERILOUS WOOING.

From the time that Aslang was quite grown up there was no longer any peace or quiet at Husaby. In fact, all the handsomest young fellows in the village did nothing but fight and quarrel night after night, and it was always worst on Saturday nights. Aslang's father, old Canute Husaby, never went to bed on those nights without keeping on at least his leather breeches and laying a stout birch stick on the bed beside him. "If I have such a pretty daughter," said old Canute, "I must know how to take care of her."

Thor Nesset was only the son of a poor cottager, and yet folks said that it was he who went oftenest to visit the farmer's daughter at Husaby. Of course old Canute was not pleased to hear this. He said it was not true; that, at any rate, he had not seen him there. Still they smiled and whispered to each other that if he only had thoroughly searched the hayloft, whither Aslang had many an errand, he would have found Thor there.

Spring came, and Aslang went up the mountain with the cattle. And now, when the heat of the day hung over the valley, the rocks rose clear and cool through the sun's misty rays, the cowbells tinkled, the shepherd's dog barked, Aslang sang her "jodel" songs and blew the cowhorn, all the young men felt their hearts grow sore and heavy as they gazed upon her beauty. And on the first Saturday evening, one after another, they crept up the hill. But they came down again quicker than they had gone up, for at the top stood a man who kept guard, receiving each one who came up with such a warm reception that he all his life long remembered the words that accompanied the action, "Come up here again, and there will be still more in store for you!"

All the young fellows could arrive at but one conclusion—that there was only one man in the whole parish who had such fists, and that man was Thor Nesset. And all the rich farmers' daughters thought it was too bad that this cottager's son should stand highest in Aslang Husaby's favor.

Old Canute thought the same when he heard about it all and said that if there were no one else who could help him he would do it himself. Now, Canute was certainly getting on in years. Still, although he was past 60, he often enjoyed a good wrestling match with his eldest son whenever time indoors fell heavily on his hands.

There was but one path up to the mountain belonging to Husaby, and it went straight through the farm garden. Next Saturday evening as Thor was on his way to the mountain, creeping carefully across the yard, hurrying as soon as he was well past the farm buildings, a man suddenly rushed at him.

"What do you want with me?" asked Thor and hit him such a blow in the face that sparks danced before his eyes.

"You will soon learn that," said some one else behind him and gave him a great blow in the back of the neck. That was Aslang's brother.

"And here's the third man," said old Canute and attacked him also.

The greater the danger the greater was Thor's strength. He was supple as a willow and hit out right manfully. He dived, and he ducked. Whenever a blow fell, it missed him, and when none expected it he would deal a good one. He stooped down, he sprang on one side, but for all that he got a terrible thrashing. Old Canute said afterward that "he had never fought with a braver fellow." They kept it up until blood began to flow. Then Canute cried out, "Stop!" Then he added in a croaking tone, "If you can get up here next Saturday in spite of Canute Husaby and his men, the girl shall be yours."

Thor dragged himself home as best he could, and when he reached the cottage went straight to bed. There was a great deal of talk about the fight upon Husaby hill, but every one said, "Why did he go there?" Only one person did not say so, and that was Aslang. She had been expecting Thor that Saturday evening, but when she heard what had happened between him and her father she sat down and cried bitterly and said to herself, "If I may not have Thor, I shall never have a happy day again in this world."

Thor staid in his bed all Sunday, and when Monday came he felt he must stay on where he was. Tuesday came, and it was a very lovely day. It had rained in the night. The hills looked so fresh and green, the window was open, sweet odors were wafted in, the cowbells were tinkling on the mountain, and far up above some one was "jodeling." Truly, if it had not been for his mother, who was sitting in the room, he could have cried. Wednesday came, and still he staid in bed. On Thursday, though, he began to think about the possibility of being well again by Saturday, and Friday found him on his legs again. Then he thought of what Aslang's father had said, "If you can get up to her next Saturday without being stopped by Canute and his men, the girl shall be yours." Over and over again he looked up at Husaby farm. "I shall never see another Christmas," thought Thor.

As before mentioned, there was but one path up to Husaby hill, but surely any strong, able fellow must be able to get to it, even though the direct way were barred to him. For instance, if he were to row round the point yonder and fasten his boat at the one side, it might be possible to climb up there, although it was so very steep that the goats had great difficulty in climbing it, and they are not usually afraid of mountain work.

Saturday came, and Thor went out early in the morning. The day was most beautiful; the sun shone so brightly that the very bushes seemed alive. Up on the mountain many voices were "jodeling," and there was much blowing of horns. When evening came, he was sitting at his cottage door watching the steaming mist rise up on the hills. He looked upward—all was quiet. He looked over toward Husaby farm—and then he jumped into his boat and rowed away round the point.

Aslang sat before the hut. Her day's work was done. She was thinking Thor would not come that evening, and that, therefore, many others might come instead, so she unfastened the dog, and without saying anything walked farther on. She sat down so that she could see across the valley, but the mist was rising there and prevented her looking down. Then she chose another place, and without thinking more about it sat down so that she looked toward the side where lay the ford. It seemed to bring peace to her soul when she could gaze far away across the water.

As she sat there the fancy struck her that she was inclining to sing, so she chose a song with "long drawn notes," and far and wide it sounded through the mountains. She liked to hear herself sing, so she began over again when the first verse was ended. But when she had sung the second it seemed to her as though some one answered from far down below. "Dear me, what can that be?" thought Aslang. She stepped forward to the edge and twined her arms round a slender birch which hung trembling over the precipice and looked down. But she could see nothing. The ford lay there calm and at rest. Not a single bird skimmed the water. So Aslang sat herself down again, and again she began to sing. Once more came the answering voice in the same tones and nearer than the first time. "That sound was no echo, whatever it may be." Aslang jumped to her feet and again leaned over the cliff. And there down below at the foot of the rocky wall she saw a boat fastened. It looked like a tiny nutshell, for it was very far down. She looked again and saw a fur cap and under it the figure of man climbing up the steep and barren cliff.

"What can it be?" Aslang asked herself, and letting go the birch she stepped back. She dared not answer her own question, but well she knew who it was. She flung herself down upon the greensward and seized the grass with both hands, as though it were she who dared not loose her hold for fear of falling. But the grass came up by the roots. She screamed aloud and dug her hands deeper and deeper into the soil. She prayed to God to help him, but then it struck her that this feat of Thor's would be called "tempting Providence," and therfore he could not expect help from above.

"Only just this once," she prayed. "Hear my prayer just this one time and help him." Then she threw her arms round the dog, as though it were Thor whom she was clasping, and rolled herself on the grass beside it.

The time seemed to her quite endless.

Suddenly the dog began to bark. "Bowwow!" said he to Aslang and jumped upon her. And again, "Wowwow!" Then over the edge of the cliff a coarse, round cap came to view, and —Thor was in her arms!

He lay there a whole minute, and neither of them was capable of uttering a syllable. And when they did begin to talk there was neither sense nor reason in anything they said.

But when old Canute Husaby heard of it he uttered a remark which had both sense and reason, bringing his fist down on the table with a tremendous crash. "The lad deserved her," he cried. "The girl shall be his!"—Bjornstjerne Bjornson.

What do you Wish for, in the way of easy work? You can have it, if you'll use Pearline. With anything you can think of, that water doesn't hurt, the easiest way to wash it or to clean it is to take Pearline. You can't do any harm, by doing away with that wearing rub, rub, rub. Besides, with almost everything, there are special reasons why you should use Pearline. For instance: There's no shrink to flannels, if they're properly washed with it.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 405 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

At the Theater.

A youth who had been paid by the enemies of the poet Lamotte to hiss a tragedy of the latter which was being performed for the first time was so deeply affected by a pathetic scene that, bursting into tears, he turned to a friend who was sitting by and said to him:

"Do me the favor of hissing instead of me. I haven't either the courage or the strength to do it."—Odi Giotto.

Circumstantial Evidence.

Even the clearest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be at fault, after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution. Take the case of any pencil, sharpened by any woman. If you have witnesses, you will find she did it with a knife, but if you take simply the aspect of the pencil you will say she did it with her teeth.—Mark Twain in Century.

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS IN SULLIVAN COUNTY ARE DOING.

All the News from All Parts of the County—Many Matters of Interest Condensed from Our Sullivan Exchanges and Contributed by Wide-Awake Correspondents.

—A. J. D. Wedemeyer has sold an acre of his Revonah Lake property to William Naumburg, of New York, for $500. The Gazette says the price is regarded as very low.

—The boarding season is about two weeks later than last year, but most of the houses in the vicinity of Liberty are rapidly filling up. J. R. Gerow, Nichols & Son, N. Clements, The Mecca, Chas. Gregory, J. G. Greening, Hotel DuNord and John Bengal now have all their rooms engaged.—Gazette.

—J. F. Sherwood's store at Livingston Manor was entered by burglars, Saturday night, and robbed of pocket knives, scissors, razors, clothing, hats, shoes, and other articles of the value of between $100 and $150. The thieves were caught Monday, near Centerville, with the stolen property in their possession, and were sent to Monticello jail.

—The right to place boats on Stevensville Lake is to be tested in the courts. M. D. Stevens claims to own the lake, and employs Thomas Rickard as his agent. Rickard has repeatedly notified persons living on the shores of the lake not to place boats on it. A. H. Mongeer, who had several boats on the lake, was specially notified, but paid no heed to the notice and, a few days ago, Rickard, it is alleged, took four of his boats from the lake and locked them up in his milk house. Mongeer got the boats and put them back on the lake, and Rickard smashed them with an axe. He was arrested on complaint of Mongeer, charged with willful destruction of personal property, but waived examination and gave bail for the Grand Jury. A civil action for damages, which involves the question of title to the lake, has also been instituted by Mr. Mongeer.

ANOTHER O AND W. EXCURSION

To the Wild West Show and Coney Island Early in August.

The excursion run by the Ontario and Western, on Tuesday, to Ambrose Park, where Buffalo Bill and his congress of rough riders of the world are exhibiting, was a great sucess. Both the exhibition and the sail between New York and Cornwall were very much enjoyed.

Another excursion will be run in the early part of August to New York, giving an opportunity to visit Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show and Coney Island, which it is to be hoped will prove as successful as the last.

Again Charged with Forgery.

From the Liberty Gazette

It is reported that Michael Hanley, of Debruce, was arrested, last week, in Nebraska, for forging checks. About a year ago he was arrested in Middletown for the same offense, and sent to the Elmira Reformatory, and was only discharged a few weeks ago.

Amenities of Sullivan County Journalism.

From the Liberty Gazette.

The baby show, which was to have taken place at Music Hall next Saturday afternoon, has been indefinitely postponed. "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," and we are sadly disappointed. We were intending to enter the junior editor of the Register, and felt sure of receiving the first prize.

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MIDDLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

Tuesday, July 24th,

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month Office hours from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

BERLIN MANNERS.

Customs That Proved Rather Mortifying to Two American Girls.

Two young girls were made miserable by an unwritten law which laid me low not long ago, writes a lady correspondent in Berlin. They were calling upon German women, and as they entered the room they saw that the least comfortable seat was the sofa, where they naturally seated themselves. One after another of the older women surveyed them until they became intensely uncomfortable, not knowing what dire accident could possibly have befallen them. At last the hostess rose majestically, saying:

"Young ladies, will you be so kind as to get up and give your seats to these older ladies?"

The poor things were crushed. My own encounter with the sofa regulation was funnier than it was crushing. I went to a musicale given by a countess. Two daughters of titled houses had been cordial in their overtures, and I was having a beautiful time watching little differences of manner and wondering if all young women were expected to courtesy and kiss the hands of married women, as my vis-a-vis was doing. As the evening wore on I concluded what well bred people were, after all, the same everywhere. When supper was announced, there was a slight confusion in the placing of the guests, and I found myself in a smaller room with a few others, among them the most important woman of the assembly. The table had been drawn to a sofa, and there is where I made my mistake. My new friend, the countess' daughter, motioned me to the sofa, which seemed the best solution of the entanglement into which our hostess had led us in a moment of flurry, for a German does not approach the ease and surety of an American hostess. At the same time the woman of importance took a seat on the sofa also. As she apparently spoke neither English nor French, and as I had not been here long enough to have acquired fluency in German, her attempt at a conversation was soon given up.

When our hostess came to see if we were all happy, our lady of importance asked who I was, and on receiving a whispered reply sat up very straight and threw herself back on the sofa, exclaiming, "Ah mais c'est trop!" I was seized with a horrible fear that my hostess had told her that I was an American reporter, and I was intensely uncomfortable in spite of my companion's friendliness. After that the great lady was very stiff, and I fear I was even snuffer. Looking again to see if she had fainted, I saw her calmly eating with her knife and no longer felt uncomfortable. If she scorned me for any reason, I certainly should be ashamed of her at my own table. I learned several days later from an American woman versed in German proprieties that my unpardonable offense had been in presuming to sit on the sofa beside my lady without a European title of high rank to back me up.

SITTING BULL'S DEATH.

The Killing of the Chief Brought About by His Son's Taunt.

"Did you ever know just how Sitting Bull was killed?" asked Lieutenant Baker of the Twelfth infantry, U. S. A.

"I do not think," he continued, "the details were ever printed. I never saw them, and I was there."

I tell it, as near as it can be recalled, as the lieutenant told it.

Sitting Bull was at his shack with his sons, near Standing Rock agency, when he was sent for to come into the agency. The Indian police were commissioned to bring him in, and when an Indian policeman gets that order and finds his man he brings him, dead or alive, unless the man gets the drop first. Sitting Bull was disposed to obey the summons, but one of his sons, as haughty an Indian as ever lived, taunted the old man for his weakness. He called him a squaw, and that epithet to an Indian brave is the cup sheaf of all that is derisive. The old man weakened under the boy's taunts, and the Indian police did the rest. Sitting Bull was all that his admirers claimed for him. When he fell, the boy who had taunted him crawled under the bunk where the old man had slept. He was there when Shavehead, an Indian from the agency, came in. He heard the story. He liked Sitting Bull, and when he was told that the boy had taunted his father and was the cause of his death Shavehead said the boy deserved death, and he was dragged out from under the bed and killed. These details Lieutenant Baker says he never saw in print.—Chicago Herald.

Quickly Arranged.

Foreign terms are apt to occasion confusion in the minds of those who are ignorant of their meaning, because, as one old lady who thought mirabile meant a "rough, noisy crowd o' folks," said, "They don't scussily ever stand for what they'd orter, judging by the sound!"

A western man wished to file a paper for his partner and himself in the circuit court and affixed to the firm signature the words "per se."

"I reckon that won't do," said the partner, whose education was somewhat more extensive. "'Per se' is sing'ler and means jest you, and ther's two of us."

"Oh, all right! I can fix that easy enough," responded the other easily. "Gimme the eraser."

The article in question was passed to him, and after some scratching and rewriting he showed the document over to his partner with a smile of triumph. It was signed, "Green & Wilson, per 2 c's."—Youth's Companion.

The Abbe de Marolles, in one of his latest works, calculated that he had printed 1:3,124 verses, and yet the public had not sense enough to appreciate him as a poet.

THURSDAY, JULY 19, 1894.

The present house of Representatives contain 219 Democrats, 126 Republicans and 11 Populists. The Washington correspondent of the New York Times estimates the standing of the parties in the next House as follows: 188 Democrats, 161 Republicans and 7 Populists and says that in making this estimate every district has been conceded to the Republicans that they may be expected to carry. It should, however, be said that the estimate is based on the assumption that a tariff bill will be passed. Should tariff legislation fail there will scarcely be enough Democrats in the next House to hold a caucus.

As a result of the recent cut in steerage rates, so many passengers presented themselves at the steamers which sailed, yesterday, that there were not accommodations for all of them and, when the vessels left, the piers were crowded with disappointed ticket holders who had not been able to get on board. Arrangements were made, so far as possible, to send the passengers who had been left behind by other ships, but a very great deal of hardship and much inconvenience was imposed on the ticket holders who had no rederess and whose well founded complaints received neither courtesy nor consideration.

The Constitutional Convention committee on suffrage voted, yesterday afternoon, 13 to 4, to report adversely all the proposed woman suffrage amendments except the one giving women the right to vote for school officers, and on that no action was taken. This action practically disposes of woman suffrage so far as this convention is concerned. The vote of the committee was something of a surprise, for when it was appointed five members were understood to favor equal suffrage. It would seem, therefore, that the net result of the many and long addresses made by the suffrage women, at the frequent hearings accorded them by the committee, had been to convince one man, who was disposed to favor extension of the suffrage, that woman was better off without the ballot.

The Senate Committee, which was about ready to submit its report, will re-open the investigation of the sugar scandal, to-morrow. It is asserted that evidence proving that Senators Camden and Vest speculated in sugar stock, will be laid before the committee. In the case of Senator Camden, it is asserted that a photographic copy of his order for the purchase of sugar shares is in the possession of a member of the committee. It will be remembered that at the original investigation Senator Camden swore that he had not speculated in sugar, and unless he can disprove the documentary evidence, which is said to be in existence against him, he will be in the unenviable position of having it proved that he committed perjury to conceal the comparatively venial wrong of having used his official knowledge for purposes of private gain.

THE 24TH'S LIFE AT CAMP

ON THE LAST HALF OF THE WEEK'S TOUR OF DUTY.

Sword Presentation to Captain McIntyre—Considerate Major Chase—Arrival of Middletown Bicyclists—Know Their Business—"Knappy's" Easy Job. A Poughkeepsie Officer Relieved for Alleged Incompetency.

The most interesting event in Tuesday's proceedings was the presentation of a sword to Capt. A. E. McIntyre by the members of "Ours." The matter was first suggested by several of the "non-com" staff, Sunday evening, and Musician Rose volunteered to solicit subscriptions among the men. A handsome sum was quickly collected, and early Tuesday morning, Musician Rose, armed with a pass allowing him leave of absence for the day, left camp for New York. He returned just before evening parade, and immediately after that ceremony was over, and the company had returned to the street, the 5th Separate Company followed, and fell into line at the left of the 24th. Major Chase, who had been requested by the members to make the presentation speech, then called Capt. McIntyre to the "front and centre," and in a most happy manner and appropriate language, presented the sword.

The Captain, who was thoroughly and completely surprised by the gift, pulled himself together and responded, accepting the sword and thanking the members for their appreciation of his efforts to make the company a credit to the National Guard.

After evening parade, the usual concert was held, and the soldiers had the balance of the time to themselves.

HAS MERCY ON THE MEN.

The early morning drill, this morning, was devoted to the "battalion in extended order," the latter under the command of Major Chase.

The sun did not shine during the morning, but the humidity of the atmosphere was almost overpowering, although none of the men dropped from the ranks. This fact may be attributed to the consideration with which Major Chase treats his men. While they are all drilling he is all business and frequent "call downs" result to officers and men, who make mistakes, but when the battalion is at rest, he has been found to be a genial and considerate officer.

MIDDLETOWN BICYLISTS IN CAMP.

At 10 o'clock, this morning, two bicylists were seen approaching the camp from Roa Hook. They were quickly recognized as Middletowners, and "Chick" Higham and "Buddy" Ketcham were soon made comfortable in camp. "Chick" lost five pounds on the trip, but "Buddy," not possessing as much adipose tissue as his partner, only lost a few ounces. They are having a good time, this afternoon, and will probably return, on the O. and W. night line, by way of row boat and Jones Point, as they want to wait for evening parade.

MORE HONORS FOR THE 24th.

The 24th, is winning almost all the compliments that it is possible to bestow upon the individual members. Sergeant-Major Hathaway has the reputation of being the only Sergeant-Major, who has brought the guard upon the parade ground at guard mount, this week, without making a "break."

A corporal from the regiment could not post the first relief, yesterday morning, and Corporal Jones, who was in charge of the second relief was called upon to perform the duty. He made the tour of the posts with his relief and Captain Thurston, instructor of the guard, who accompanied him, did not make a single correction on the march, and was so well satisfied that the corporal knew his business that he sent him out as instructor of the next relief.

Private Ashley was called before an examining board of surgeons, this morning, for examination as a member of the hospital corps. The examination lasted three hours and was oral and practical. A surgeon of the board was afterwards heard to say that the doctor answered every question correctly.

SERGEANT KNAPP'S "SOFT SNAP."

Sergeant Knapp has fallen into what the boys term a "soft snap." Major Chase appointed him "color sergeant," and while his duties are arduous when the battalion is drilling in close order, he has nothing else to do but sit upon the ground, under the shade of a tree, hold the flag pole straight up and brush the flies off, when the battalion is drilling in extended order.

While there no cranks in the company street Clerk J. E. Decker has the reputation of being the most obliging man in the company.

THE WOES OF DOLLIE JOHNSON.

"Dollie" Johnson is the only real sufferer thus far. He brought into camp with him a first-class toothache, and he spends most of his time reading the odontunder advertising, controversies which fill the home papers and has learned to sing "Home sweet home."

Mr. W. G. Hastings, of Newburgh, is a visitor in camp, and will probably remain for the remainder of the week.

THE BEAR'S LAST DAY IN CAMP.

The bear goes home to-morrow, so it is reported, the men who sleep near his quarters having complained of him as a nuisance.

The boys are settling down to business, and early retirement is the order of the evening, and in the morning they are not so anxious to get out at 4:30 as they were the first two days.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

The guard detail for to-morrow includes Privates Burhans, Carpenter, Hook, Jennings, Steadman; Supernumerary, Paret.

Miss Laura Decker, of Middletown, and Miss Ella Bowen, of Yonkers, were visitors in the street during the afternoon.

Quartermaster-Sergeant Schoonmaker was given leave of absence, to day, his presence in Middletown being made necessary by the illness of Mr. C. A. Whitney, a fellow employe in the Anglo-Swiss Company's office.

SUSPENDED FOR ALLEGED INCOMPETENCY

Lieut. Eastmead, of the 15th Separate Company, of Poughkeepsie, was, to-day, relieved from duty by Post Commandant Colonel Welch, in the absence of General Porter, upon a charge of incompetency, preferred by the Officer of the Day, Captain Howland, of Company D, 65th Regiment.

Lieut. Eastmead was detailed as Officer of the Guard, yesterday, and was instructed to communicate the countersign to the Junior Officer of the Guard at the outpost. This he is charged with having failed to do at the proper time, and the Junior Officer of the Guard held up a Captain and two Lieutenants, with a party of non-commissioned officers, at the guard tent at the outpost. The officers reported the detention and cause at headquarters, with the result above stated.

Lieut. Eastmead left for home this afternoon, and feels that he has been badly treated. He says that he will demand a court of inquiry, and will carry the matter up to the highest point possible in the guard. There seems to be a division of opinion as to who was at fault, the Officer of the Day or the Officer of the Guard.

THE GREAT STORM

Vivid and Frequent Lightning and Floods of Rain.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE.

Lightning's Work of Destruction in and Near This City—J. Charles Schwartz's Barn Burned — Many Buildings Struck — Barn Burned Near Howells—Damage Done by Floods—Notes and Incidents.

It is many years since Middletown has been visited by so severe a storm as came upon us about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Although it was all over in an hour a vast amount of damage was done by lightning and flood.

The flashes of lightning, unusually brilliant and accompanied by loud peals of thunder, came in quick succession, and the rain literally fell in sheets, and much faster than gutters, sewers and streams could carry it away, and streets were in many places full to the curbs.

Just how much damage was caused by the floods will never be known. In the low grounds cellars and basements were flooded and their contents ruined with the dirty water, and in some cellars the filth from sewers backed up into them, rendering the houses almost uninhabitable for the time being; driveways and paths were washed out, gardens destroyed, and many lawns badly damaged.

The lightning got in its work most effectually, and caused many thousand dollars of damage in this city and vicinity.

J. CHARLES SCHWARTZ'S BARN BURNED.

A large barn, belonging to J. Charles Schwartz, on Bennett Hill, was struck and set on fire. The blaze was seen from the Condensery and an attempt was made to send in an alarm, but the system would not work, the lightning having struck the wire and burned out the fuse in McQuoid Engine house, thus saving the indicators in all the other engine houses.

A messenger was sent to Eagle and Phœnix houses, however, and both companies turned out in the storm and two streams were turned on the burning building, but the flames had progressed so far that it was impossible to save the structure.

Mr. Schwartz's father-in-law, Mr. Sears, was at the house at the time, and saw the lightning strike the barn. He succeeded in getting out the horses and wagons, but all the other contents of the building were destroyed, consisting of over four tons of hay, a lot of feed, a sleigh, wagon poles and shafts and harness, and a lot of wagon maker's tools belonging to Mr. Sears.

The barn was insured for $275, (not enough to cover the loss) and there was $100 on hay and feed. The loss on harness and parts of wagons was also covered in the Reading Insurance Co., through the agency of G. B. Wales.

HOUSES STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

A house owned by Thomas Watts, Esq., at the corner of Broad and Prince streets, was struck by lightning, the ridge board being torn off and a lot of bricks thrown from the chimney as the fluid passed down it to the ground.

The chimney of the house of Andrew Hutchinson, on Prospect avenue was struck and the stove pipe in the kitchen knocked down and the room filled with a blue smoke that blinded those in it for a few minutes. John Dougherty, who drives one of Boak's ice wagons, was in the kitchen at the time, and was knocked down, but suffered no serious consequences from the shock.

When Mr. Dougherty went upon the street he found his ice wagon turned upon its side. Whether it was thrown over by the wind or lightning he does not know.

A new house belonging to James Wilson, next door to Mr. Hutchinson's was struck and the roof and rafters torn off.

The eagle on the top of the flagstaff on the Monopole hotel, at the East Main street crossing, now conducted by Ed. Russell, was struck and almost demolished. The flag staff was shattered to its base, but the building was not touched, the fluid doubtless passing to the ground by the leaders.

The new house of Frank Wells on Independence avenue, near Columbia Park, was struck, the slates being knocked from the roof, in three places. The lightning tore the house to pieces quite badly as it passed down to the cellar.

Mr. Wells, who was alone in the house at the time was knocked senseless, but recovered consciousness in a few minutes. He estimates the damage to the house, at several hundred dollars.

TREES STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

A number of trees were struck by lightning about town. Among them were the following:

A cottonwood tree in the yard of Amos Jackson, No. 34 Broad street, which was badly shattered; a maple on the grounds of the Children's Home; another in the yard of C. H. Winfield on East Main street; and one in the yard of Theodore W. Reeve on the same street.

An elm tree at the north end of John E. Corwin's grounds was struck and quite badly shattered. At the time the tree was struck Mr. Thorn, who resides at No. 1 Bond street, was lying in a hammock on the rear porch of the house, only a short distance from the tree, and the shock tumbled him out on the floor of the piazza. He felt no ill effects from his experience, but his daughter, who was in the house, was somewhat stunned, and one side was numb for several hours.

ELCETRIC LIGHT WIRE BROKEN.

A tree on the lawn of the First Presbyterian Church was blown down and fell across an electric light wire and snapped it off. The wire was repaired soon afterwards, and both the arc and incandescent lights burned as usual during the night.

AT WICKHAM AVENUE DEPOT.

The lightning played many pranks around the Wickham avenue depot and the clerks and other employes suffered all kinds of terrors, while the storm was raging. In the dispatcher's office, blue flames played over the switch board and reports like the discharge of pistols were heard every few seconds. Following one severe clap of thunder a ball of fire appeared to enter the room, gouged out the wood around a nail in the switch board and then jumped to the radiator with a report that almost deafened the operators, who rushed from the room.

In Superintendent Bradfield's office a ball of fire came in the window and attacked the wire used by the superintendent to call clerks in the various departments. The insulation was burned off and the system wrecked.

Three of the electric light circuits were burned out. For some reason the lightning selected each alternate wire, leaving the others untouched.

NO LAUGHING MATTER.

Alderman Luddington started up stairs to see if the building had been struck, and at the first landing met a clerk, who is six feet tall and weighs over 200 pounds. His face was ghastly pale, and as he hurried down the stairs he said in a tremulous voice as he noticed Mr. Luddington laughing at him: "This is too serious to be a joke." Further on Mr. Luddington found nearly all the clerks collected in a dark corner of the hallway, and every face bore a look of terror.

FRIGHTENED PASSENGERS.

Train 4 was standing at the depot when the storm was at its height. All at once there was a blinding flash and a crash of thunder; a streak of flame ran along the tops of the cars to the end of the depot, and then jumped to the trolley wire; the passengers rushed from the doors, and Galvanizer E. Thorpe and his assistant, who were under the cars testing the wheels, crawled out and declared that they wouldn't go in again, as they had suffered a severe shock.

Several times the occupants of the building thought it had been struck, but there are no signs of it to-day.

THE FLOODED DISTRICTS.

On Houston avenue the Draper brook was the cause of serious trouble. The brook is covered for some distance above and along the avenue and sticks and pieces of railroad ties, washed down from up the stream, lodged in the covered space and choked it. The water dammed back, flooding cellars and basements on both sides of the street, and as it made a new channel for itself, tore away the earth, making deep gullies in several yards. Many cellars were flooded also on Little avenue, Sprague avenue and Grant street.

On Fulton street cellars on both sides were flooded, the sewer not being large enough to carry off the torrents of water that emptied into it.

At the corner of Fulton street and Sprague avenue there was a great cave in along the sewer.

AT THE STATE HOSPITAL.

At the State Hospital, the drives and paths about the grounds were washed badly, quite deep gullies being washed out in places, and many shrubs on the lawn were broken, while some of the flower beds suffered considerably and the gardens on the low lands were inundated and confiderably injured.

In the vicinity of the boiler house and laundry the water at one time was at least three feet deep and such was the force of the torrent that coal was washed several hundred yards away.

ELECTRIC CARS STOPPED.

While there is no danger to passengers on electric cars during a thunder storm, it is decidedly uncomfortable about the power house when the dynamos are running and several miles of bare copper wire heavily charged serve as lightning conductors; so when the wire brought in a charge from nature's own battery strong enough to fully test the capacity of the lightning arrester, the engineer shut off the power and the cars were at a standstill until the worst of the storm was over.

DAMAGE OUT OF TOWN.

The amount of damage done by the storm in the country round about Middletown was very considerable, although it is not likely that all the calamities of flood and lightning have been reported.

A HOUSE STRUCK AT SCOTCHTOWN.

The tenant house on George J. Houston's farm at Scotchtown, occupied by Winfield Force was struck by lightning, which tore the chimney to pieces and did some damage to the house. Mrs. Force, who was in the house at the time, was somewhat shocked, but not seriously injured.

COWS KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

A cow belonging to Thomas Nelson, who lives between here and Scotchtown, was struck by lightning and killed. The animal was in the open field, a long distance from any tree, when the bolt struck her.

A cow belonging to George DeKay, of the Mud Mills neighborhood, was also struck and killed.

BARN BURNED AT HOWELLS.

Lightning struck the large barn of Samuel D. Hoyt,, on the road between Howells and Van Burenville. Two men had been mowing away hay in the building and descended to the barn floor. A moment later, one of the men hearing a crackling noise, looked up and saw the hay in the very spot they had stood a few minutes before in flames.

The men gave the alarm and neighbors came to their assistance and got out the horses and some of the wagons and harness, but all the farming implements, some harness and wagons, and about twenty-five tons of hay were consumed. The building was burned to the ground.

The granary and piggery near the barn caught fire, but by hard work the flames were extinguished before doing much damage.

The building was 200 feet long, almost new, well built and conveniently arranged.

It is believed the loss on the barn and contents is fully covered by insurance through the agency of J. E Winter, of Bloomingburgh.

A LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT.

Appeals to House Democrats to Stand by the Wilson Bill

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The House has voted to ask another conference on the tariff bill.

During the discussion Chairman Wilson received a letter from President Cleveland appealing to Democratic representatives to stand by the Wilson bill, as an expression of Democratic principles, and to not consent to the absurdity of free wool and taxed coal and iron ore.

BOSTON, July 19.—The Sugar trust has been enjoined from further prosecuting its business within Massachusetts until it agrees to file annually its financial condition.

A Partition Sale.

The farm of 138 acres in the town of Mount Hope, belonging to the estate of the late John Borland, was sold at public auction by Herbert Gedney, Esq., as referee, P. F. Kaufman, auctioneer, and was bought in by Charles Borland, one of the heirs, for $2,900, subject to the widow's dower.

Another farm belonging to the estate and situated in the same town, containing sixty-four acres, was sold under foreclosure proceedings to Peter Moore, for $2,000, the amount of the mortgage.

Arrested for Breaking Into Erie Cars

Two men named Adams and Mahoney were arrested on train 14, on the Erie, last night, on a telegram from the Chief of Police of Port Jervis, on a charge of breaking open freight cars. The men were locked up until to-day, when a Port Jervis officer came here and took them back on train 1.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 105 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

TRINITY SUNDAY.

Oh, for one hour of Athanase the saint!
To stand against a world in error prone,
To guard the gift of the great white Throne,
To answer the agnostic's shallow plaint,
To hear in a consoling words who shrink and faint,
As fearing to believe on One unknown!
Is it not writ that not by bread alone
Shall man have life? His born fatal taint
Requires each word proceeding from God's lips.
How shall God's awful voice reach earthly ears?
How can the soul's dull sense be stirred afresh?
The Spirit's light dispels the day's eclipse,
The Father's speech once more the lost child hears
Translated to him by the Word made flesh.
—Rev. Walter Mitchell in Churchman.

IN THE DAYS OF TOM SAYERS.

Labouchere's Description of Scenes at a Prize Fight Thirty Years Ago.

Among my many sins I have attended a prize fight, and for the outpour of rank blasphemy and reckless blackguardism it ran an execution at Newgate or Horsemonger Lane jail very close. The police were dead against prize fights, which were excuses for a gigantic form of extortion. Two ruffians of the lowest class contracted to batter one another about in order to extract the guineas from the swells, the toffs and the supporters of the "noble art of self defense." A programme had to be secretly arranged, a special train had to be secured for the army of men, the swells about town and the scum of the metropolis, who lived upon the excitement or the pelf of prize fights. There was a certain official countenance to these illegal "mills." The editor of Bell's Life in London constituted himself the arbiter on these occasions. This was the organ of the prizefighter. The editor received the stakes deposited, acted as referee and afterward described the fights in a jargon delightfully humorous. "Tapping the claret," "One in the bread basket," "A rouser on the conk," were all phrases invented by the editors of Bell's Life.

The night before it was necessary to go to a sporting pub to get "the office" and to receive for a valuable consideration the special railway ticket. The vigil of the fight was usually spent in the "wild west," for in those days there was no closing hour. Restaurants and public houses could keep open as long as they liked. Races were run in the Haymarket at 3 o'clock in the morning, and about 4 or 5 the "swells," all in evening dress, would assemble at the railway station, each one in charge of a specially appointed protector.

The scene at the railway station was indescribable. The officials made themselves scarce, and the station was handed over to mob law. On the platform the pocket of every unprotected man or youth was emptied, and when the train started amid a chorus of obscenity and blasphemy no one knew the destination. It might be a deserted chalk pit, or an old quarry, or a lonely wood, or a river marsh. Suddenly the train would stop, and away went the excursionists tramping over field and meadow. The principals were muffled up. The attendants carried the ropes and stakes, and when the ring was pitched every one who had a sovereign left was fleeced to buy the colors of the favorite—a silk handkerchief that could not have cost fourpence.

I forbear to describe the hideous blasphemy that soiled the morning air or the mad execrations during the mill. When a champion's eye was bunged up with a blow, his second lanced it and then sucked it into fighting condition. I have seen many a brave young fellow faint at the hideous sight of a prize fight—soldiers, most of them, who would have gone to battle without flinching.—London Truth.

Roman Standards.

In the Roman army there was a very highly developed system of military ensigns, which, just as among modern nations, were regarded not merely as a rallying point for a given body of men, but as an emblem of the state, and were therefore surrounded with a veneration which degenerated into idolatry. From a tactical point of view, the Roman standards were of more importance than the flag at the present day, for the movements of the troops were entirely regulated by them.

According as they were raised and carried forward, planted in the ground or turned toward the rear, in obedience to the sounds of the horns of the "cornicines," the army broke up its camp and marched or retreated and halted. In the camp the standards were planted before the general's tent, where their presence sanctified the spot as though it were a temple and rendered it a safe depository for the booty collected by the legion. It was to the standards the soldiers swore allegiance, and the first step of a pretender who sought to become emperor was to seize the standards, as he thereby secured the fidelity of the legion.—All the Year Round.

She'd Had Enough of Them.

"Don't you say a word to me about them life insurance companies," said old Mrs. Redhot the other day. "They aren't any good for poor, common folks. Only rich folks and big bugs can do anything with 'em. Why, when my husband lay here with fever two years ago, I sent for the agent of an assurance company to come and insure him for $2,000 right away, and, do you know, that there agent never came near me, and my poor husband up and died. Don't talk to me about life insurance! It's all a fraud!"—Pomona Progress.

The most wonderful cliff dwellers of the United States are those of the Mancos, in a southern Colorado canyon. Some of these caves are 500 or 600 feet from the bottom of the perpendicular sides of the canyon wall, and how their occupants gained ingress is a mystery.

MELLIN'S FOOD
FOR INFANTS AND INVALIDS.
TRADE CORALINE MARK.
THE ONLY PERFECT
Substitute for Mother's Milk.

New York.
Gentlemen:—We have found Mellin's Food to be a splendid substitute for the mother's milk, and baby is growing nicely.
Yours truly, H. CAMPBELL.

176 Penn St., Brooklyn, E. D., N. Y.
Gentlemen:—Your Book and sample bottle came duly at hand. We have used the Food almost exclusively since the birth of our son, who will be three months old on the 29th inst. It has proved its merits, he is growing finely, and in good health. We pronounce it excellent, and will recommend it to all mothers, and especially to those who have a scarcity of the breast. The healthy condition of our little one surprises us all; we cannot do without it. With us it is a household word—"Mellin's Food." Thanking you for the interest in our baby, we are, Yours respectfully,
Mr. and Mrs. HENRY TOMPKINS.

Buffalo, N. Y.
Gentlemen:—Mellin's Food gives the best satisfaction. I would not be without it.
Yours respectfully, Mrs. J. GATES.

Brooklyn, N. Y.
Gentlemen:—Just one year ago I received a notice from you inviting me to try a sample bottle of your Famous food. We were blessed with a new arrival, a girl, we tried the Food, and have continued to use it right along. If the baby did not need it, the mother took it, and so the child received it all the same, indirectly. The baby is first-class, good health, strength and temper and in fact carries out her name, viz.: an angel. No bother at night and as to her teething, we have only discovered them by feeling them. Because she has not shown any outward sign, in the customary manner, by crying.
Yours respectfully, B. E. ANGEL.

93 Carlton Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Dear Sirs:—I have tried other kinds of Food, but none seemed so agreeable as Mellin's Food. The baby has thrived wonderfully since using it, as it agrees well with the breast milk. Mrs. C. W. JAMES.

"Seven and Six."

English newspapers in the days when advertisements were heavily taxed published the titles of books reviewed in their columns, but never the prices, because the excise office held that an annexed price was an advertisement and as such taxable. The custom continued for a long time after the tax on advertisements had been removed.

The London newspapers also made a distinction between a simple notice of a death, for which they charged 5 shillings, and a brief obituary, for which they demanded seven and sixpence.

One day Dr. Thomas Hume, a grave, satirical London doctor, called at the office of a morning journal and silently placed upon the counter the announcement of the death of a friend, together with 5 shillings. The clerk glanced at the paper, tossed it one side and said gruffly, "Seven and six!"

"I have frequently," answered Hume, "had occasion to publish these simple notices, and I have never before been charged more than 5 shillings."

"Simple!" repeated the clerk without looking up. "There's an added line, 'universally beloved and deeply regretted,' isn't there? Seven and six."

Hume produced the additional half crown and laid it deliberately by the others, observing in his most solemn tone, "Congratulate yourself, sir, that this is an expense which your executors will never be put to."—Youth's Companion.

The Bill Was Long Enough.

A lawyer tells the following story concerning a client, something of a wag in his way, with whom he had long kept an account. When the latter was finally made up, the bill, mostly for trifling services, covered several yards of foolscap, as the items enumerated the most minute details. When the client came round to settle, he refused to enter the office, but stood in the door, and holding one end of the bill unrolled the voluminous document in the direction of his legal adviser, with the request that he would receipt it.

"Come in," said the lawyer in his most cordial tones.

"No, thank you," replied his client; "you'd charge me rent if I did."—Tit-Bits.

A Chat With the Conductor.

"It must be awful on a man to run one of these 'lectric cars," said the old man in a confidential way to a conductor on a Woodward avenue car.

"Well, I dunno."

"Jest expectin death any minit, I suppose?"

"Hardly that."

"But it's a steady strain on your mind. Can't tell when a wire's gone to break and send your soul a-kitin. Then you've got to look out for passengers and teams and people on foot and children. Lord o' love, but I should think you'd jest shiver all the time!"

"No, I don't shiver much."

"That shows how brave you are. I never had much sand myself. I s'pose you never even turn pale when you run over a woman dressed right up to kill?"

"I probably change color, but don't get very pale."

"Lands alive, but it would skeer me half to death! Kill somebody every five minutes, I s'pose?"

"Well, not quite as often as that."

"Every 10, then? I could never stand it myself. I s'pose the car kinder bobs around when you run over five or six folks to once?"

"Yes, kinder."

"By George, but you are as cool as ice! Is that the trolley up thar?"

"Yes."

"And when she slips off and busts things you stand right here with your hands in your pockets and let 'er rip?"

"Yes."

"Waal, I'll be hanged! Say, thar's a feller up my way who has killed a mad dog, broke a tramp's leg and licked three men in fair fights, and he's swellin around and callin hiss-elf some pumpkins. Come up some Sunday and give him one crack and see him fall dead."—Detroit Free Press.

Hard Case.

A western doctor who has had much experience with fever and ague cases says that the best description he ever heard of that malady was given by a waggish patient of his own.

One morning the doctor was summoned to this gentleman and found him in a shivering chill. The day before he had been in a high fever. The doctor inquired how the patient felt.

"N-no-t-t a b-bit bet-t-ter," chattered the victim of the chill.

"I am sorry, but your case is a peculiar one and very hard to get hold of," said the physician sympathetically.

"Ye-yes," shivered the sufferer, "th-that's s-so. Th-the case sh-shakes so yo-you can't g-get hold of it-t-tah!"—Youth's Companion.

The Riot of the Elements, Yesterday—Three Storm Clouds Met Over the City—No Such Lightning or Down Pour of Rain in Years—Artificial Oranges—Origin of the Word Sandwich—Thirteen Not Unlucky for Once.

Those who were on high ground, yesterday, and watched the gathering of the storm clouds, say that three clouds met over this city. The largest cloud swept down on us from the northeast; another came from the north, while from the southwest a smaller cloud was borne swiftly across the heavens to add to the meteorological tumult. The result of the meeting of these clouds was such an elemental commotion as we seldom are called on to witness or endure. No such lightning has been seen in years and the wonder is not that so much damage was done, but that there was no loss of life and that the destruction of property was no greater. As for the rain, only once in a life time does one see such a downpour. It came down not in drops, but in sheets.

It was a veritable cloud burst. No foresight could make provision for such floods of water as dashed earthwards while the storm was at its height. No city of its size in the State has a better or more extensive system of sewers than has Middletown, yet they were entirely inadequate to carry off the turbulent streams that poured into them at every catch basin. As a consequence the water dammed back and flooded many cellars and basements, and individuals suffered much loss, damage and annoyance. There is no use of anyone who was drowned out or washed out making a kick about it. We all have to take our chances when the elements run riot, and Middletown ought to be thankful that it fared no worse. That the town is built on many hills was its salvation. Had it, like many towns, been stretched out along a narrow valley, the damage done by yesterday's wild tempest, instead of being reckoned by a few hundred, or at most a few thousand dollars, would have reached a total that would have been appalling, and our fair young city, instead of being as bright and fresh as a baby after its bath, would have been to-day a scene of waste and desolation.

Blood oranges are now manufactured to order. A syringe and little California claret do the business, and though prohibitionists may not admit it, the hand-made orange is really an improvement on nature's handiwork.

I came across, the other day, an interesting explanation of the derivation of the word "sandwich." It seems that we owe the word to the gambling craze that possessed the Earl of Sandwich, an English nobleman of the last century. He had such a passion for play that he would not leave the gaming table even for his meals, but satisfied his hunger by munching slices of bread and meat, which he carried from home in a little basket when he left home to visit the gambling halls. This practice became so well known that lunches prepared in that way were called "sandwiches."

Those who bank on the superstition that thirteen is an unlucky number will have to admit that it does not hold true in the case of the Minneapolis. She is the thirteenth cruiser and made her trial trip on July 13th, which was Friday, and yet she proved herself the fastest vessel of her class in the world. Incidents like this don't count, however, with the superstitious. One case of bad luck does more to convince them of the truth of some old saying that some day, date or thing is unlucky than a score of cases of good luck or a hundred cases of no luck at all can possibly disprove.

DIED.

COX—In this city, July 19th, '94, of cholera infantum, infant daughter of Thomas B. and Minnie E. Cox. Funeral private.

What do you take medicine for? Because you are sick and want to get well, of course. Then remember, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

A FAMILY'S STRANGE SICKNESS.

Due to Eating Dewberries That Had Grown Among Poison Ivy, Says Their Physician.

The wife and three children of Mr. Thomas Geiselhardt are suffering from a mysterious illness that came upon them quite suddenly on Sunday.

On that day two of the children went out into the fields and picked a few dewberries, which they brought home with them. Mrs. Geiselhardt, the two boys and one girl were all of the family at home at the time, and they ate the berries, and in less than an hour afterwards all were taken sick with severe pains in the stomach, which soon afterwards extended to the bowels.

A physician who was called was at a loss to account for the peculiar symptoms in any other way than that the berries were growing among poison ivy vines, and that the poison was communicated to the berries.

As only the members of the family who ate of the berries are affected, the doctor's theory would seem to be the correct one.

All are still quite sick, but are improving slowly and it is believed will recover.

FRESH AIR FUND CHILDREN.

A Party Brought to Town, Yesterday—The Little Ones and Their Entertainers.

Twenty-eight Fresh Air children came up from New York, yesterday, to this city and neighborhood and were instantly welcomed with such a salvo of electrical artillery as they are likely never to forget. They were met at the James street depot by the kind friends who are going to entertain them for two weeks, all of whom without exception seemed genuinely delighted with their little guests as they led them away. We give the names of the children with their temporary residences.

TIDINGS OF RED AUSTIN.

"Detective" Norris Says He is in Limbo in the West for A Gold Brick Swindle.

Detective Norris, of Cincinnati, who figured in the case of Red Austin, who buncoed farmer Crowell, of Walden, and was afterwards released from jail by Sheriff Alexander, and turned over to a supposed United States officer, was in Newburgh, yesterday, and said the man who so successfully impersonated the officer and secured Austin's release, was Lew Ludlum. He also says Austin is again in custody in the west, having been detected in a gold brick swindle.

St. Joseph's Picnic.

The storm did not interfere with St. Joseph's picnic at Maennerchor Park, last evening, but on the other hand it cooled the air and thus added to the comfort and pleasure of the large crowd in attendance. It was a successful affair in every respect.

Dr. Hand's Diarrhœa Mixture.

"My baby is subject to severe attacks of diarrhœa. During the last sickness Dr. Hand's Diarrhœa Mixture was freely given and an immediate cure resulted. It would have required a dozen visits of a physician as on former occasions. I believe Dr. Hand's Remedies would have saved the life of the child I lost, had they been within my reach at the time of its sickness."—Mrs. F. H. Bennett, 752 New St., Camden, N. J. 25c. MOTHERS WORRIED

How Infant Death Rate May Decrease.

Cleanliness, Pure Air and Lactated Food.

The Only Sure Preventive of Cholera Infantum.

Lactated Food Approaches Nearest to Breast Milk.

Every One Knows What It is Made of—No Secret in It.

Don't feed a baby on a secretly prepared food.

Don't take any chances of giving it a "trade" article that is made, no one knows where nor by what process.

Use lactated food—pure, unadulterated, nourishing food.

There is no secret about it. Lactated food is manufactured under the personal supervision of Prof. Boynton, of Vermont University.

An absolutely pure and reliable infant food had been eagerly sought for years as a substitute for mother's milk.

Lactated food solved the problem completely. It stands, to-day, pre-eminent among all others. Infants fed upon it suffer less, and fewer die, it is now well known, than those fed upon anything else. It is used in the big charitable institutions for children. It has saved the lives of thousands of infants during the hot, dangerous months of summer.

It is indorsed by the best physicians, by nurses, and by happy, grateful mothers in every town and village in the land.

Sugar of milk, the basis of mother's milk, is the basis of lactated food. With it is combined pure barley malt, the finest wheat gluten, and the nutritious elements of the oat. It is thoroughly cooked by high steam heat, and a pre-digested, nutritious food is made that fulfills every requirement of the growing child. It is by far the safest food that a child can take in the summer. It is a true preventive of cholera infantum.

No home where there is an infant can afford to be without it.

Lactated food saves babies' lives!

The following letter from Mrs. A. Wandall, 99 Rowe street, Rochester, N. Y., a picture of whose pretty baby was given above, is one of scores that are received every week from happy parents the country over:

"Our baby weighed four pounds at birth. When two months' old she weighed but eight pounds with her clothes on. The doctor said she was a very frail child. I commenced feeding her a certain food when she was fourteen days old, but she did not gain strength as I knew she ought. When she was seven months old I changed to lactated food. She commenced to gain at once, and to rest well at night. She has not been sick with bowel trouble once through her teething, and she was teething last summer. I consider lactated food has been a great blessing to our little girl. It has made her healthy, strong and the happiest two-year-old child in Rochester. Any mother wishing to address one that has used lactated food will be cheerfully answered at my expense by addressing me."
